5 - 6 December 2017 | Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam

Plenary 2: Climate Budgeting & Expenditure Tracking as a Tool for LEDS and NDC Investment Planning

Organized by: United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and its Regional Governance of Climate Change Finance Programme (GCCF)

Session Facilitator: Glenn Hodes, United Nations Development Programme

Presenters/Speakers: Glenn Hodes (United Nations Development Programme), Dr. Pham Hoang Mai (Ministry of Planning and Investment, Government of Vietnam), Sandee G. Recabar (Climate Change Commission, Government of Philippines), Dr. Tauch Chan Kresna (Ministry of Economics and Finance, Royal Cambodian Government)

Objectives

- To highlight how countries can and have been progressing with the task of mainstreaming climate risk and low-carbon opportunities into their budget processes and investment planning frameworks—particularly in key relevant sectors such agriculture, water, and energy
- Particular focus will be given to sub-national level interventions as well as potential regional learning and cooperation, including highlighting needs and opportunities in Mekong Delta region to finance climate action at scale that can support climate-resilient growth
- Good practice on tracking and monitoring climate spending and take stock of key gaps and solutions in the region, including building: political buy-in, stakeholder participation, accountability mechanisms, and more credible data collection and assessment methods over time
